TRACE3'S KATHERINE JOHNSON WINS STEVIE® AWARD FOR THE MOST INNOVATIVE WOMAN IN TECHNOLOGY 2020

Irvine, Calif.,- October 2, 2020 – Katherine Johnson, Director of Innovation at Trace3 has been named one of this year's most innovative women in technology in the 17th annual Stevie Awards for Women in Business.

The Stevie Awards for Women in Business honor women executives, entrepreneurs, and employees– worldwide. The Stevie Awards have been hailed as the world's premier business awards.

With more than 1,500 entries submitted this year for consideration, Katherine Johnson was recognized by the judges as a truly iconic leader in the technology industry, sharing:

"Katherine is on the cutting edge, a leader and innovator in technology. With a focus on humanizing technology including RPA, AI and machine learning she is guiding senior executives on how to integrate technology to optimize their business. It is so great to see an inspirational female leader in tech."

"Katherine is a true progressive technology consultant. She appears to use the most modern technical skills and helps those clients become adept in developing the future."

"Katherine is a highly respected thought leader and expert in her field and truly passionate about what she does. She continues to advance both her own learning and that of others around her. Her willingness to make time for mentoring others and emphasis on personal learning and development elevates her entry."

Gold, Silver, and Bronze Stevie Award winners were determined by the average scores of more than 180 business professionals around the world, working on seven juries.

As organizations seek guidance around digital transformation, Katherine meets those needs with an in-depth understanding of the technologies as well as their implementations.

"A background in enterprise IT combined with experience in emerging tech allows Katherine to deftly sift through the hype and play the role of Futurist for Trace3," said Sandy Salty, Chief Marketing Officer of Trace3. "We are honored to have one of the 'Most Innovative Women in Tech' as part of the Trace3 team of female leaders."
